The Best Promoter.

The carefully prepared and well displayed advertisement is the most successful "promoter." It "sells" more people in one day than the average human promoter can interview in the whole of his professional career. It appeals to the reader directly and convincingly, and catches trade that could not be influenced by the most eloquent talker. The wise business man employs the most potent agent to strengthen and increase his business.

EXPECTANCY

Keep courage and wait, for the sunlight will fade
And the moon will shine high o'er the hill.
And the dawn will arise from the chill
And the shade,
That the world may strive on with a will.
The present 'tis nothing. The light shines ahead,
And this moment, with sorrow so vexed,
Will be swiftly forgot 'mid the joys to be spread
Tomorrow—or day after next.

No matter how long you have waited to claim
The prize which your fancy holds dear,
The day yet to come has been ever the same,
A beacon resplendent with cheer.
Toil on. We are sure to o'ertake it at last;
And, by trifles no longer perplexed,
We will all be at peace. We will smile at the past
Tomorrow—or day after next.

SLANDERING MAYSVILLE.

Time to Call a Halt on the Yellow Journals of Cincinnati.

Until recently The Cincinnati Post enjoyed the unenviable monopoly of the "fake" stories sent out from this city.

But lately The Times-Star has proven a magnificent second—often, indeed, out-heroding its rival.

Yesterday The Times-Star contained a report bearing upon the Ramsey case, now being investigated by the Grand Jury, which bore the heading, in flaming type, "Lynch Talk in Maysville," and stating that the reputed victim of Ramsey was "in a pitiable condition."

Neither statement is true.

There is not now, nor has there been, any talk of lynching, unless it came from some corner loafer who wouldn't "lynch" a body-lose.

The LEDGER yesterday saw the girl in question, who is a buxom lass of nearly 13 years, and she was in such a "pitiable condition" that she fairly tittered with delight as she tripped up the stone steps of the Courthouse on her way to the Grand Jury room, stumbling and falling upward in her progress, and laughing heartily over the slight mishap.

Whilst our Board of Trade and all citizens interested in the property and welfare of Maysville are using their best endeavors to induce people with capital and enterprise to come and abide with us, these two Cincinnati papers are neutralizing these efforts by creating the impression abroad that this community is composed of law-breakers and cut-throats.

If this article has not the desired effect THE LEDGER will ask the city authorities to take measures to stop the sale of these scurrilous sheets in our city.

Hon. W. D. Cochran as spokesman cited briefly the work of the Board of Trade in building up the city's interests; that of the L. and N. Depot, the Ohio Valley Pulley Works, the Shoe Factory, stating that the burden of all these enterprises had fallen upon the shoulders of but a few, and asked that the above committee be appointed to aid the Board should it find it to the city's advantage to bring new industries here. The bill of $325 for new hose was allowed.

City Attorney Wood and Mr. Cole argued the question as to the right of Council to create the office until they wore out the patience of Councilman R. R. Frost, who stopped the argufyers by rising to a point of order and moving that it be referred to the Laws and Ordinance Committee, which carried.

The committee appointed to examine the records of the various city officers reported them to be all right.
